

- The landing page / home page

1-The button is very big and does not do any specific function.

2- The text is badly written and with spelling errors.

3- The text should have another color because it does not look well with the background color.

4- The text must be all the same color except the link so that the user knows where they have to click to go to the next page.

5- The word "here" should be the one that is underlined and not "click" since that is where we have to click.

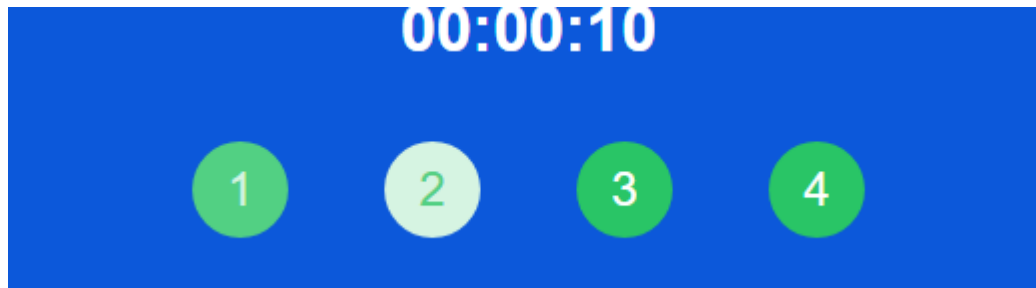

6- Only here it should have capital letters so that the user knows where to click.

7- We have the same problem as before where the visually impaired user could not see "next page".

- Each one of the 4 forms

1-The numbers on the form should light up when you are at that number on the form and not light up sequentially all the time.

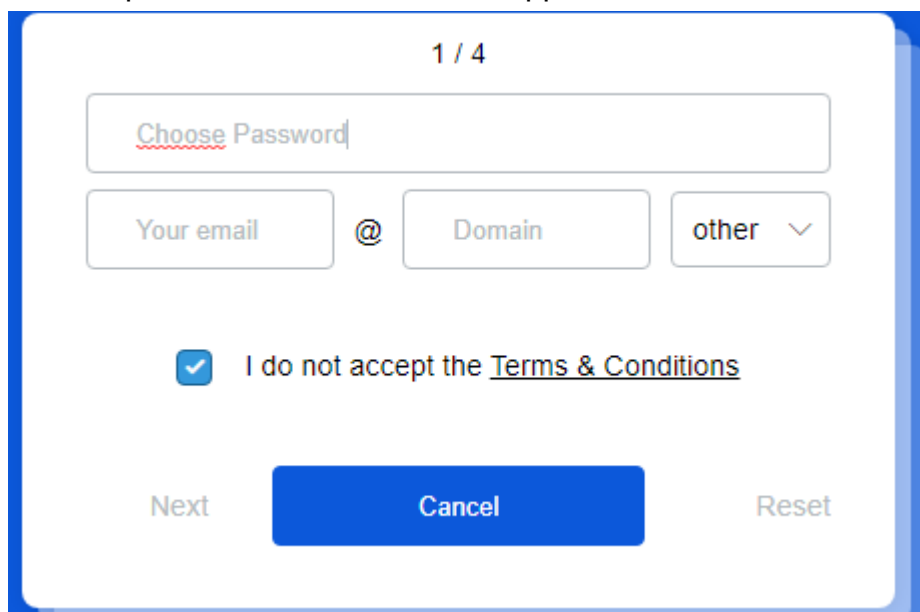

2-There is a verification that you do not accept the licenses when it should be that you have to accept them, since it is mandatory that people know how their data will be used and for legal reasons.

3-When you try to write there is already a fixed message that you cannot remove in all the boxes and it is quite annoying.

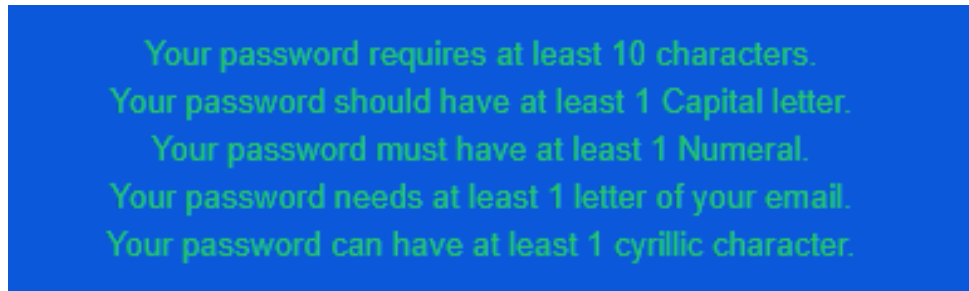

4-The next button should be the largest and the cancel button should not be.

5-The next button does not work and thus we cannot move to the next form.

6-If we have the check set, it does not let us do anything since it says that we have not accepted when it should be the opposite.

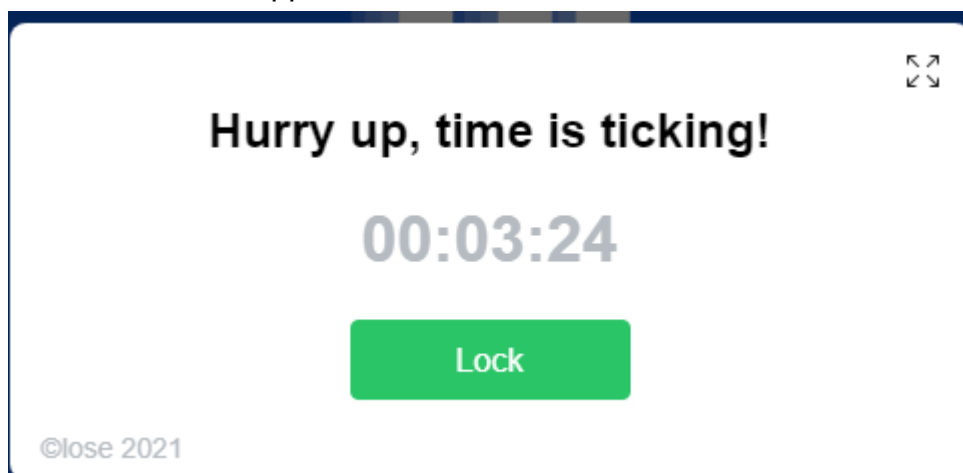

7-The password requirements are hardly visible and they are a bit difficult to fulfill since there are many requirements that are not the standards that any password for a web page must meet.

- Time-pop up and help windows

1-If we spend a lot of time, a screen appears that only lets us put it big and does not let us continue with the form in addition to being very short the time in which it appears and to remove it from the screen we must click on the copyright because it is not intuitive.

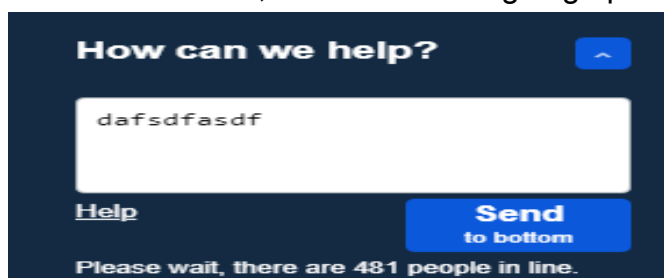

2-The window disappears all the time even if we close it.

3-The help button is a counter that does not teach and each time we give it, the number of people in the queue for the request grows by one.

4-There should not be a button to lower the window already in large, since it should be the one to send the request.

5-The button with an arrow should only have two uses, when you click to raise and another to lower it, it should not be going up all the time.

6-When you click cancel, the pop-up appears that makes us choose if we want to stay, the buttons appear in red to accept and in green to cancel, it should be the other way around since people and it should be the other way around already which is the way people see the options clearer.
